Help your staff retire the WAHVE Way

Keep your retiring insurance professionals engaged in the industry

The insurance industry faces a critical shortage of experienced professionals as baby boomers retire. Keep valuable talent in the industry while helping your retirees. Introduce your retiring employees to WAHVE, a groundbreaking alternative for their retirement years.

WAHVE is here to help your vintage employees transition into "pretirement."

Reimagining retirement

Work At Home Vintage Experts (WAHVE) is an innovative contract staffing talent solution that matches retiring, experienced, trained and knowledgeable insurance professionals with insurance jobs nationwide.

WAHVE's unique staffing solution fills the gap when people want to retire but still want to work. Research shows that those who continue to work after retirement will stay healthier, live longer and have greater financial freedom.

Our approach has created a "wahve" of change in the insurance industry and has been enthusiastically endorsed by numerous state and national insurance associations.

Pretirees, not retirees

WAHVE can help you provide your pretirees with:

- A soft landing as they leave the traditional work force.
- The security of continued income while working remotely from home.
- The flexibility to work on their own terms, whether full-or part-time.
- The ability to continue fulfilling and valued work using their institutional knowledge.

Let us help you add WAHVE to your employee retirement conversations.
